Do you have a child who is deaf or hard of hearing since birth?

Are you a parent without hearing problems?

Can you help us?

Researchers at Coventry University are looking for volunteers to be involved in a study trying to understand more about your experiences of finding ways to communicate with your child

We would like to hear from you if:

- You are over the age of 18
- You are able to understand and speak English
- You are the primary caregiver of a child born deaf or hard of hearing, and have been since birth

What will I be asked to do?

The study will involve taking part in an interview with the lead researcher, Evy Paterson, to share your experiences of bonding with your child. The interview will take place in a private and safe space (online if you wish) lasting around 60 minutes and will be arranged on a date and time that suits you.

As a thank you for your participation in the study, each participant will receive an online voucher worth £20. If you are interested in participating or would like more information, please contact

Evy at: paters11@uni.coventry.ac.uk

About the researcher:

Hi, my name is Evy, and thank you for taking the time to read my study advert. I am a Trainee Clinical Psychologist on the Clinical Psychology Doctorate course at Coventry & Warwick Universities. Please don't hesitate to contact me on the email above if you would like any more information on the study or wish to take part. I look forward to hearing from you.
